*Architecture
cannot be avoided.
It crosses your path all the time.
You can partly uncover
it with makers and historians
from the ground, from above

A man in a dark shirt and glasses is pointing his right index finger towards a crowd of people. He is holding a newspaper or magazine in his left hand. The crowd consists of various people, some sitting on yellow chairs and others standing, all looking in different directions. The background is a red-tiled floor and a grey wall.
